RUSSIA'S WAR IN UKRAINE: STRATEGIC RISKS AND POSSIBLE OUTCOMES

VIA ZOOM
WEBINAR

TUESDAY, MAY 3RD
AT 4:00 PM PDT

MICHAEL J. MAZARR

Russia's invasion of Ukraine has generated immense human and financial costs and shaken the stability of world politics. The war has sparked questions about a wide range of issues, from the global strategic implications to the details of combat in Ukraine and the facts about Russian military performance.

Analysts at the RAND Corporation have been assessing the ongoing conflict and its broader strategic context. In this discussion, Michael J. Mazarr, a senior political scientist at RAND, will use that analysis, and RAND work on the future of the post-war international order and the nature of the growing rivalries with Russia and China, to survey the status of the war and discuss its larger strategic implications.
