1:00 P.M. PRESENTATION

Ambassador Jeanne Phillips has built a distinguished career in responsible corporate and civic engagement, providing strategic counsel on international relations. Notably appointed by President George W. Bush, she served as the U.S. Permanent Representative and Ambassador to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) in Paris, focusing on anti-bribery enforcement, corporate governance, and OECD reforms. Ambassador Phillips, uniquely, led two consecutive Presidential Inaugural Committees under President Bush and now holds the position of Senior Counsel for Hunt Consolidated, managing corporate engagement and international relations for the Hunt family of companies.

Her innovative leadership in founding Hunt Global Partnerships, a public/private partnership, garnered national and international acclaim for sustainable projects. Currently serving as Honorary Consul of France in Dallas, Texas, Ambassador Phillips works to enhance business and cultural ties between France and Dallas. Additionally, she chairs the Mayor's International Advisory Council, fostering relationships between Dallas and corporations, both domestic and foreign.
